Nominee: Dave Thompson

Connection to Neuroendocrine Cancer: Father died of it

Dave Thompson has been an outstanding supporter of our charity, demonstrating relentless energy, creativity, and compassion in his fundraising efforts. Over the past year, Dave has organised a series of events that not only raised an incredible £7,000 but also helped spread awareness of neuroendocrine cancer across his local community.

Dave's approach to fundraising is both innovative and inclusive. From hosting a community fun run that attracted over 300 participants to organising an online auction that drew bids nationwide, He has found ways to bring people together while keeping the cause at the heart of everything. He has also encouraged local schools and businesses to get involved, fostering a wider network of support that will have a lasting impact.

What makes Dave's contribution so remarkable is his personal motivation. After losing his father to neuroendocrine cancer, he channelled his grief into positive action. His resilience, dedication, and ability to inspire others embody the very spirit of this award.

Dave is more than a fundraiser. He is an advocate, a motivator, and a beacon of hope for others affected by cancer. His efforts have not only provided vital funds for research and patient support but have also given people a sense of community. He is truly deserving of the Best Fundraiser Award.
